Waitress/Hostess and Lifeguard

Though these jobs are not related to my major, I started working when I was 13 and having a job so young has given me valuable insight into the responsibility and integrity a job requires.

Academic Projects

Object-Oriented Programing

- Java GUI paint application, Space Trader Video game

- The paint app was a solo project but the video game was a team project in which we utilized the agile methods. Both of these project worked with Java and I learned the basics of event driven programing.

Intro to Computational Media

- Personal Website, 3D Aframe Scene

- Both of these solo projects helped to improve my HTML/CSS skills and also expose me to some new programs to create 3D graphics.

Bits of Good/GT Hack for Impact

- Web Dev, MERN bootcamp

- In this organization I learned the basics on Mongoose, Node.js, JavaScript, and a bit of React. We all completed basic training to be able to do more complex web development.
